PRESS RELEASE

MPS DELIVERS FIRST A320 SIMULATOR

Groenekan, The Netherlands, 12 November 2012,--- Multi Pilot Solutions B.V (MPS) the innovative Dutch manufacturer of simulators, has delivered their first Airbus A320 fixed based simulator to European Pilot Selection and Training (EPST). The MPS A320 is the third MPS simulator for European Pilot Selection & Training after two B737NG fixed base simulators manufactured and delivered by MPS since 2007.

The MPS A320 Standard Version is equipped with a collimated visual system and comes with a qualification as a type specific FNPT II MCC per EASA regulations. The cockpit represents an exact replica of the A320 aircraft and MPS maximizes the use of the real a/c cockpit structure and parts for maximum fidelity and reliability.

Like all MPS Standard Versions the MPS A320 Standard Version can be upgraded at the request of the customer to an A320 Advanced Version later by adding the circuit-breakers panels, upgrading the software and a re-qualification to EASA FTD level 1 or 2 level.

About Multi Pilot Simulations (MPS)

Incorporated in 2007, Multi Pilot Simulations, The Netherlands, develops, manufactures and sells fixed-base, type specific (i.g. identical to Boeing 737-NG or Airbus A320) simulators for flight training organizations and type rating training organizations. Since August 2011 MPS has been backed by the Mainport Investment Fund (KLM, AMS Airport, RABOBANK and Technical University (TU) Delft) as an investor.

About European Pilot Selection and Training (EPST)

EPST, founded in 1997, is a training organization for ab-initio pilot training and provides a very comprehensive high quality Jet Orientation Course (49 hours on B737-NG or A320 simulator) at the end of its basic training. The EPST approach of “no cure no pay” protects its students from high financial risks in aviation training. EPST is focused on quality selection and airline standard training in order to provide true airline proficiency. EPST believes in “Passion for Excellence”.
